Engage employees, increase retention, drive higher ROI

When it comes to employee engagement, a quality recognition program that is simple, authentic, and rewarding produces better results than almost anything. Appreciating employees with rewarding recognition can directly influence retention, ROI, and engagement.

Awardco makes it easier to do just that by providing a simple, flexible, and user-friendly solution to help you recognize your employees and appreciate them. We've partnered with Amazon Business, Priceline, and ticket vendors to provide the largest reward network in the world, allowing for more choices and experiences for your employees. See how you can improve your organization's health with powerful recognition tools from Awardco.

“33% of American workers are engaged by their jobs. 52% say they're "just showing up," and 17% describe themselves as "actively disengaged"; therefore, most employers have a lot of work to do to unlock the full potential of their workforce.”
